

Pay as you go free mobile internet offer

When you join or upgrade with Orange, we may give you 30 days, 3 months, 6 months or 12 months free mobile internet. This offer is only available on selected pay as you go phones during limited promotional periods.

You'll need to activate your free internet by following the instructions we'll send to your phone. We'll send you a text to confirm when your internet has been applied and when it is due to run out. Just remember, these messages may take up to 24 hours to deliver. Any data unused at the end of the promotional period will be lost.

Your free internet has a fair use policy of 250MB a month and can only be used if you have a positive credit balance of at least £0.01. Once your free internet has run out you'll automatically be charged our standard pay as you go data charges according to your animal plan terms. You can monitor how much free data you are using by calling 453. For more information on the charges that may apply, visit <http://shop.orange.co.uk/mobile-phones/price-plans/pay-as-you-go>. If you already have an inclusive internet reward or bundle, this offer's internet allowance will be used first, and any unused data from existing rewards or bundles will be lost.

To use mobile internet you'll need internet coverage on our network, check it at <http://www.orange.co.uk/coverage>. Remember that you can only use mobile internet on your phone in the UK.
